An Infamous Falsehood.

E. M. Hungerford as a Libeler.

We dislike very much to be forced to attack a candidate on the Republican State Ticket, whose name appears at the head of the GUARD, but when the Editor of the Sentinel bolts the action of the Regular Republican Convention at Plumb Creek and assails our fellow townsman, Wm. Gaslin, Jr., in the vilest and most untruthful manner, after pledging some of G.'s friends at the State Convention, most sacredly, that if they would support, or promise not to oppose him for the Regency, he would not oppose Gaslin for the Judgeship.—Hungerford was nominated and so was Mr. Gaslin, and H. returned home and began his campaign of falsehoods by publishing in the Sentinel, a statement to the effect that Dilworth received the votes of 17 of the delegates whose seats were not contested and Gaslin but 13. The reverse of this is true, as will be seen by a statement on the opposite side of this sheet, signed by James Valentine H. J. McKee and John Guyer, delegates from Harlan county to the Judicial Convention. Thus, we are enabled to impeach Mr. Hungerford's character for truth and veracity, by the evidence of three of the most prominent and truthful men of his own county. But this was not sufficient to satisfy the men who control his political action. They demanded that he should get down and wallow in the depths of the deepest political mire and fish up something to hurl at Gaslin. Feeling that he was dishonest himself, he went down, and bro't the following charge: "Mr. Gaslin says there is not an honest man or a virtuous woman in the land." In the last issue of the Sentinel, he reiterates this statement and works himself up to a perfect frenzy, in defense of the ladies of the Valley and returns to the charge again and again, with tears rolling from his eyes, smoke issuing from his mouth and blood oozing from his fiery nostrils, while the two Generals, D. and R., who command this Lilliputian host, stand by and applaud lustily.

We are authorized by Mr. Gaslin, to say that he never made the assertion Mr. Hungerford charges him with, and has no such opinion of his fellow citizens. He has always held the homesteaders and settlers of the Valley in highest esteem, and his hopes of success in the present contest are based on his intimate and friendly relations with so many of our citizens, who have found in him a true friend. This charge was manufactured by Mr. Gaslin's enemies, to defeat him. They could find no dishonor-

But the Gen. is not going to be elected, but there is danger of electing Hinman, the U. P. candidate, if a very large per cent of the Republican vote of the district is cast for D. With the Press and Times, of Kearney, supporting Gaslin, he is sure of a large majority in Buffalo county, and Sherman and Kearney counties will give him almost a solid vote, while Adams will give him a good majority, which will make his election certain if his Valley friends remain true and do their duty. The ring masters prefer Hinman to Gaslin, because they think his election destroys their chances next fall and they must either rule or ruin. We believe the Republican voters of the Valley counties have independence to refuse to obey the commands of Dilworth and his friends, and will vote for Gaslin. But they must prepare themselves to combat lies, slanders and money. The Ring says Gaslin must be slaughtered, and the U. P. R. Co., have telegraphed their employees in this district, "Gaslin must be slaughtered." If the U. P. Co. fear that Gaslin would make a judge who would, as regards justice, deal with them as he would a private citizen, they should certainly vote for him. If that giant corporation have reasons to believe that he would, as a Judge, have just as much regard for the rights and property of the humblest citizen, as he would have for their powerful organization, then should every man who believes in the doctrine of equal and exact justice for all men, be ready and eager to work for his election to the District Judgeship. That Company deems the judgeship a matter of such vital importance to them that they have sent 140 hands into Cheyenne county, where scarcely any one lives; to work on their track and roll up a big majority for Hinman. Republicans of the Valley, throw no votes away upon Dilworth.

Hinman Dissected.

From the North Platte Republican, of a recent date, we clip the following correspondence:

"Time would fail me were I to attempt to set forth all the reasons why B. I. Hinman has no claim for support from Lincoln county or from the Fifth Judicial District, in the coming contest for District Judgeship. Laying aside the fact that he was nominated by only nine delegates out of thirty-three, six of which was from his immediate neighborhood and almost self appointed, I wish to call the attention of the voters of Lincoln county and elsewhere to his standing in this and adjoining communities. If you enquire about him at his home in Lincoln county, or in Keith, or in Cheyenne, where he has practiced, some of the best men there will tell you his integrity is questionable; and others, and they are not few in number, will brand him as a villain, and stand ready to show you the proof. Good citizens of Cheyenne county will tell you that he packed the grand jury there, and when charged with it by Woolworth did not pretend to deny it. Citizens of Lincoln county will tell you that he has been guilty of handling both sides of case, unbeknown to the different parties, and disposed of the same to his own advantage, regardless of the interests of his clients. Others will tell you that he has disgraced his profession by using the confidence reposed in him as an attorney for political purposes, and taking advantage of men's pecuniary difficulties to scourge them into that political harness which suited him best. Every attorney in North Platte, save Grant, his partner for three years past and probably longer, has continually charged

Look Out for Frauds.

There is danger that the will of the people in this Judicial District may be defeated by a series of the worst kind of frauds and it behooves the friends of Mr. Gaslin to be active and on the alert.—The U. P. R. Co. are colonizing Cheyenne county, in the interest of Hinman, and the friends of Dilworth are fixing things up for a heavy vote in the unsettled districts of Phelps. The fight on the District Judgeship, is being made by the people on one side and the corporations and politicians on the other. The contest will, in a measure, determine whether the former controls this district or the latter. Ballot stuffing and fraudulent returns may be confidently expected to make the vote of Gaslin's opponents as large as possible. To counteract this, Gaslin's friends must be vigilant and labor hard to swell his vote as large as possible. Pay no attention to the fabrications put afloat by the men who are eager to do the bidding of the two political slysters who seek a position they are unqualified to fill. Along the Platte, by far the largest proportion of the Republican vote will be concentrated upon Gaslin while Hinman will get the U. P. strength. It is now evident that the bolt at Plumb creek was planned by Guy C. Barton, Dilworth, Hinman, Roberts & Co., to open the way to success for a Railroad Judge. Voters, you can defeat their plans if you will.

General Orders.

The U. P. R. Co. has issued an order, in which occurs the sentence, "Gaslin must be slaughtered," which means that they know him to be an honest and incorruptible man, and one upon whom the people can rely for justice whether the litigants be rich or poor. It means that if that Co. kills stock along its line of road, they will have to pay a fair value for the same, should G. be elected and that they have resolved to defeat him if possible. It means that this corporation fears they will owe their taxes to pay the same as individuals.

During the meeting of the State Convention at Kearney, the ring politicians held a secret caucus, and the order went forth from them, "Gaslin must be slaughtered." This ring thinks or pretends to think that the election of U. S. Senator, a year hence will be affected by the result of the judicial contest in this district, and as the U. P. and B. & M. are powerful in politics, they are eager to help them to the judgeship, regardless of party, for a chance to pick up the crumbs that they get from the Senatorial table, if the man they are about to for is successful. All those now eating Senator Hitchcock's "spoils" must have their music prepared for them and have to "start the tune," and the lute band that worships at their shrine, joins in the chorus. Now it strikes us that the election of a judge in this district, should have nothing to do with the Senatorial succession, but if the ring carry their guerrilla warfare too far, the people will remember them and send representatives to the Legislature next fall who will break the succession and thus bring about the official decapitation of many Federal Relations.

Mr. Gaslin never was connected with a political ring in his life, and is bitterly opposed to the disreputable transactions they usually engage in to achieve success and consequently they say "Gaslin must be slaughtered." What say you, voters of this district?

The Democratic Candidate.

H. C. Colburn, a prominent citizen of North Platte, the home of B. I. Hinman publishes a letter in the Kearney Press, of October 5th, in which he says of Hinman:

"He packed a grand jury at Sidney, has bought men's votes," has "sold out and settlers of the Valley in highest esteem, and his hopes of success in the present contest are based on his intimate and friendly relations with so many of our citizens, who have found in him a true friend. This charge was manufactured by Mr. Gaslin's enemies, to defeat him. They could find no dishonorable transaction to connect his name with, nothing they dared to utter against his private or public character, and the above was accordingly set afloat by an irresponsible and untruthful newspaper jireling.

Mr. Gaslin's friends throughout the District, must be on their guard on election day. The corrupt political State Ring and U. P. R. R. have combined to beat him, and tricks, slanders and falsehoods will be the means resorted to to accomplish their ends. Let Mr H. return to his vomit, if he will, but be assured that no man in the Valley has a higher regard, or holds a higher opinion as regards the honor and virtue of the gentlemen and ladies of Nebraska, than does Wm. Gaslin, Jr.

Gen. Dilworth,

Who is pressing his claims so persistently and unscrupulously for election to the Judgeship of this District, has no real claims upon the Republicans in this contest. It is true that most of our State officers are backing him, and that nearly all the Federal appointees are doing the same. These gentlemen think they are laying their pipes for success next fall, and consider Dilworth's success necessary to enable them to carry out their plans. They are vain enough to imagine that they furnish the brains which holds the party together, and that it was organized and maintained for their exclusive benefit and political aggrandizement. These men seem to have forgotten that the party elevated them to places of honor and distinction, and that they are the servants instead of the commanders and dictators of the sovereign will. If Gen. Dilworth served his country faithfully and well as a soldier, he deserves credit therefor, but that is no reason why soldiers should support him, if other things are not equal—Aside from the fact that he is not the party nominee, he has not the legal qualifications Mr. Gaslin has, nor does his name, for the strictest integrity and honor compare favorably, with that of his regular Republican opponent. We are informed that Dilworth has promised seven different attorneys in this district, to secure their support, the position of Prosecuting Attorney. If he has the position at his disposal, in the event of his election, it was certainly kind in the Governor to make him the dispenser of that office to aid him in this canvass. But as only one of the seven can get the office, if their united efforts elect him, the other six will come to the conclusion that "for wags that can't wag."

case, unbeknown to the different parties, and disposed of the same to his own advantage, regardless of the interests of his clients. Others will tell you that he has disgraced his profession by using the confidence reposed in him as an attorney for political purposes, and taking advantage of men's pecuniary difficulties to scourge them into that political harness which suited him best. Every attorney in North Platte, save Gantt, his partner for three years past and probably longer, has continually charged him with owning a judicial officer and of laboring to elect a man whom he could own, and this is so patent of late years that it has become notorious in this community.—No attorney in North Platte, save Gantt, will bring an action or suffer one to remain, in the Court of the Justice who occupies Hinman's office because they feel confident from actual experience, that an unbiased judgment cannot be rendered there. As an attorney, the Lincoln county bar have an entire want of confidence in his integrity and honor, and for that reason alone every attorney, save Gantt, will oppose him. But the bar of Lincoln county have openly expressed their disapprobation of Hinman for a want of sufficient ability to properly adjudicate suits under the civil code relating to questions of law only; while in matters of equity, he has been compelled to confess that he was almost entirely at sea. Clients of his before the U. S. Court, openly charge him with trying to force them to testify falsely in cases in which he was interested by threats of withdrawal from their case. Can you find any attorney of this U. P. R. R., who will honestly state that B. I. Hinman is of any benefit to that road as a lawyer? But nevertheless, they pay him a large salary to do something. Where is there a case of the U. P. R. R. in which he has been more than a figure head except in North Platte, where he controlled the County Commissioners with whom all the suits were brought and therefore was enabled to settle them by stipulation. The value of some men depends entirely upon their trickery, chicanery and downright rascality and not upon their professional ability. What the people and the bar of this District demand is a Judge of unbiased judgment, of over average professional ability and of unquestioned integrity and honor. These characteristics, B. I. Hinman does not possess according to the most intelligent citizens in the community in which he lives, and it would be a suicidal act on the part of the bar of the district to support, and a jeopardizing of justice to elect, such a man to the office of Judge. Let every man who loves justice regardless of politics vote against Hinman."

Judge N. P. Cook,

Of Harlan county, deserves and has the thanks of all the citizens of the Western part of Nebraska, for the able manner in which he presented and pressed their claims in the late Republican State Convention. Mr. Cook introduced a resolution favoring the selection of one candidate for Supreme Judge from the North of the Platte, and one from the South, and the other one West of the 6th P. M. The delegates from the Eastern part of the State tabled the resolution, and again placed themselves upon the record, as being opposed to granting any favors to the West. But notwithstanding this, it was good to have our claims so earnestly presented as they were by Mr. Cook, as persistent efforts in that direction will meet with success in time. So prominent and able were the Judge's efforts in favor of the West, that the delegates from Buffalo county recognized his service by nominating him for R. gent of the University, but he declined to be a candidate.

We looked at Fuller & Wiant's stock of Boots & Shoes, while in Diverton, & found it to be the largest & best we have every seen in the county. Their stock

The Democratic Candidate.

H. C. Colburn, a prominent citizen of North Platte, the home of B. I. Hinman publishes a letter in the Kearney Press, of October 5th, in which he says of Hinman:

"He packed a grand jury at Sidney, has bought men's votes," has "sold out Lincoln and Cheyenne counties and good men can be brought to swear to the fact, he has betrayed the confidence of his clients for political purposes; he has attempted to persuade men to swear falsely in the United States Courts; he is the paid attorney of the U. P. Railroad to do their dirty work."

Dilworth as a Botter.

THE FIGURES.

With brazen effrontery, the secret political ring which puts forward Dilworth as a candidate for Judge of this district, claims that he is the nominee of the Plum Creek convention. Their claim is false, as the following figures show: There were 33 votes in the convention; 17 were necessary to a choice. When the convention assembled, it was found that the delegates from the respective counties stood as follows:

FOR GASLIN.

Sherman county, 1; Kearney, 1; Franklin, 3; Harlin, 3; Furnas, 2; Dundy, 1; Chase, 1; Gosper, 1. Total, 13.

FOR HAMER.

Buffalo county, 4.
Total votes for Gaslin and Hamer, 17: which was a majority against Dilworth. The counties of Adams (3 votes) and Red Willow (1 vote) were contested. Thus it stood at the opening of the convention, not counting the votes of the contested counties.

Before the hour arrived for the opening of the convention, Dilworth's friends had carefully figured out the situation. They found that they would, under no possible circumstances, be able to win over to their side a single Gaslin or Hamer delegate, and that Dilworth could not be nominated, even if the case of two contested counties was decided in their favor, as with the vote of Adams (3 votes) and Red Willow (1 vote) they would then be enabled to muster but 16 votes.

Unwilling to submit to the majority, they attempted to break up the convention in a row, in which they failed. They then arranged themselves upon one side of the hall, effected a sort of a side show organization, and declared Dilworth the nominee. In the mean time, the regular convention proceeded to business. A committee on credentials was appointed, the case of the contested counties was examined and decided. A ballot was taken for Judge, with the following result:

FIRST BALLOT.

Gaslin,	13
Hamer	5
Kaley	3

On motion, Mr. Gaslin was declared the unanimous nominee of the convention, having on the last vote received 21 votes.

The above is a faithful and true statement of the manner in which Hon. Wm Gaslin and C. J. Dilworth came before the people as candidates for the Judgeship. Our preference was for Hon. H. S. Kaley, but Mr. Gaslin received the nomination honestly and fairly, and we give him our cordial and earnest support. C. J. Dilworth was not the choice of the majority of that convention, and we mean what we say, when we assert, that unfair and dishonorable means were

LOCAL MATTERS.

We shall hope to give a full return of the vote of county in our next issue.

J. D. Calhoun is rustivating with his Franklin county friends again.

Read the announcement of C. B. Childs, for Superintendent, in this issue.

Tingham Bros, have put in the largest and best stock of fall goods they ever opened in town.

Mr. L. Baum, of Red Cloud, was in town Monday, with the view of locating another store at this place.

Another slight frost the first of the week, but without much effect. Hay-making is yet on tapis

We understand that work on the Turkey Creek mill is progressing finely

The Commrs met this week to settle with the treasurer and transact such other business as might come before them.

Judge L. M. Moulton will move his family to town next week, so that can more conveniently attend to his increasing practice,

Many articles of interest are crowded out of this paper by the political issues, but we hope after this week to give the county matters their full share of attention.

The Indian Commission will return home unsuccessful in their efforts to make a treaty. The Indians only ask seventy millions of dollars in money, and sufficient farm equipments to make each head of a family rich. An outbreak was eminent on one or two occasions which would probably have resulted in the killing of the entire Commission.

Hon. B. I. Hinman, the democratic candidate for Dist Judge, was in town over night and part of the next day this week. He is a very pleasant appearing man.

The Webster County Agricultural Society held its fair this week. The Franklin county base ball club put in an appearance to compete for a $25. prize but we have not learned the result.

The announcement of O'Sullivan for the office of "Target" for the black mailers of the county is unavoidably laid over. However, we think he need have no fears of his being overlooked in this connection, for he has penned too many newspaper articles since his residence in the county.

Republicans of Franklin Co.

This issue goes to press before the result of the Convention at this place today is known, consequently we cannot urge the merits of the individuals who compose the ticket that will be placed before the Republican voters of this county on Tuesday next, for their support, but undoubtedly it will be a good one, and we wish to urge upon every Republican in the county the importance of rallying to its support. Every republican in the county knows from the history of the past, where the rock lays upon which the party ship is so liable to wreck, and it should be his special aim to steer clear from it. There is no reason why every man on the ticket should not be elected, and we hope all of the past personal and sectional differences will be laid aside and a straight vote cast. We must better the standing of our party in this county and by a united effort is the only way to do it. All strife in the nominations should end in the convention, no matter if every candidate is a Dilworth man personally, it has nothing to do with our county matters, and is no cause for a split.
