Situated in the South central portion of Bay City’s original town plat, the South Side Historic District is Bay City’s and the county’s largest and best preserved concentration of late -19 to mid -20th century dwellings reflecting the architectural forms and eclectic development patterns of that era and which are typically seen in small to medium sized Texas towns. The stylistic forms represented here include Classical Revival, Craftsman, Colonial Revival, Tudor Revival, Prairie, Mission, Spanish Colonial Revival, and Ranch styles.
